Basis of presentation

The financial statements and accompanying notes are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Agent Information Software, Inc. and its subsidiaries. All material intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated.

Recently adopted accounting standards

In July 2010, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued guidance on receivables. The guidance establishes the account and reporting guidance for disclosures about the credit quality of the financing of receivables and the allowance for credit losses. The adoption of this guidance did not impact the Company's financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

In February 2010, FASB issued guidance on subsequent events. The guidance amends certain recognition and disclosure requirements. The adoption of this guidance did not impact the Company's financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Use of estimates

The preparation of the financial statements of the Company in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts of assets and liabilities and sales and expenses during the reporting period. These estimates are based on information available as of the date of the financial statements. Actual results may materially differ from those estimated.

Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred, the fee is fixed or determinable, and collectability is probable. The Company enters into certain arrangements where it is obligated to deliver multiple products and/or services (multiple elements). In these arrangements, the Company generally allocates the total revenue among the elements based on the selling price of each element when sold separately (vendor-specific objective evidence).

Recurring revenues for SaaS (Software as a Service) services, database subscriptions and software maintenance and support contracts are recognized as services are rendered on a yearly, quarterly or monthly pro rata basis over the contractual period commencing in the period in which access rights are provided to the customer.

License revenues are recognized when the software is shipped to the customer or system access rights are provided to the customer.

Revenues for installation, training and other non-recurring services are recognized as services are provided to the customer.

Revenues for which payment has been received in advance are treated as deferred revenue until services are provided and the revenues have been earned.

Foreign currency translation

Assets and liabilities recorded in foreign currencies are translated at an interim rate for 2011 of $0.98 US dollars. Revenue and expenses are translated at an interim rate for 2011 of $0.98 US dollars. Translation adjustments resulting from this process are recorded to other comprehensive income and included as a component of stockholders' equity. The functional and reporting currency for operations located in Canada is the Canadian dollar. Consequently, assets and liabilities must be translated into U.S. dollars using standard exchange rates. All other Company transactions are denominated in U.S. dollars. Interim rates will be adjusted at year end to reflect actual rates for 2011.

1. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Credit risk

The Company performs ongoing credit evaluations of its customers and generally requires cash deposits in advance of providing services. The Company maintains a reserve for potential losses from uncollectible accounts in the form of an allowance for doubtful accounts and actual losses in 2011 and 2010 were in line with management's expectations. The Company may be exposed to credit risk for trade receivables beyond the reserves established by the Company for this purpose.

During the year, the Company had cash balances on hand at various financial institutions which exceeded FDIC and CDIC insured limits for periods of time. (See cash and cash equivalents.)

Fair value of financial instruments

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instruments for which it is practical to estimate that value.

Cash and cash equivalents and accounts receivables: the carrying amounts approximate fair value because of the short-term maturity of these instruments.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are carried at original invoice amount less an estimate made for doubtful receivables based on reviews of outstanding amounts on a regular basis (See credit risk.)

Software

Software is recorded at historical cost. Software as of June 30, 2011, consists of the following:

Software	$11,494,165
Less accumulated amortization	9,037,379
Software, net	$ 2,456,786

1. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Certain costs incurred related to the development and purchases of computer software are capitalized and amortized. The Company collects and segregates software development labor hours applied to design, development, quality assurance and product documentation associated with the software development process. All labor hours associated with the design and specification development process are expensed as incurred until a detailed design has been developed. All labor hours associated with coding, debugging, alpha testing, software bug corrections, quality assurance testing and documentation are eligible for capitalization. Generally, the Company capitalizes approximately 70% of eligible costs based on an average actual cost per labor hour and expenses the remainder. On an annual basis, the Company evaluates its capitalized software for recoverability against the estimated future revenues over the next five years from the products or services.

Certain marketing costs incurred to develop Web sites are expensed as incurred.

Amortization of software costs is based on the greater of the projected to actual revenue ratio or straight-line method and commences in the first full year of product availability and continues over the product's estimated useful life. The estimated useful life for computer software and databases is seven years based on its estimated economic life.

Equipment and leasehold improvements

Equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the useful life of the asset or the term of the lease. Depreciation and amortization is based on the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the asset and commences in the year the asset is placed in and/or is available for service or sale using the half-year convention methods.

Depreciation and amortization is computed using straight-line methods over the following estimated useful lives:

Computer equipment	5 years
Furniture and fixtures	3-10 years
Booth equipment	5 years
Autos	3 years
Office equipment	5 years
Leasehold improvements	Lease term or useful life

1. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Equipment and leasehold improvements at June 30, 2011, consist of the following:

Computer equipment	$ 1,633,256
Booth equipment	41,682
Office equipment	52,993
Leasehold improvements	12,152
Autos	49,031
Furniture and fixtures	332,989
	2,122,103
Less accumulated depreciation	1,933,066
Equipment, net	189,037

Impairment of long-lived assets

The Company periodically assesses the recoverability of the carrying amounts of long-lived assets. An impairment loss is recognized when expected undiscounted future cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset. The impairment loss is the differences by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its fair value. There were no impairment losses or reserves as of June 30, 2011.

Earnings per share

Basic and diluted earnings per share computations presented by the Company conform to the standard and are based on the weighted average number of shares of Common Stock outstanding during the year.

The following is a reconciliation of the numerators and denominators of the basic and diluted earnings per share computations:

Year to date June 30, 2011	Net Income	Shares	Per Share
Basic earnings per share
Net income available to common stockholders	$ (69,881)	4,272,610	$ (0.02)
Effect of dilutive securities stock options	-	565,233
Diluted earnings per share
Net income available to common stockholders	$ (69,881)	4,837,843	$ (0.01)

1. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Share-based compensation

The Company recognizes in the financial statements all costs resulting from share-based payment transactions at their fair values. Compensation cost for the portion of the awards for which the requisite service had not been rendered that were outstanding as of May 10, 2005 is recognized in the consolidated statements of operations over the remaining service period after such date based on the award's original estimated of fair value. Share-based compensation expense recognized for employees and directors for the period ended June 30, 2011, were $3,600, and are included in general and administrative expense. For the period ended June 30, 2011, cash flows from operations and cash flows from financing activities were not affected.

The Company determined the fair value of share-based payment awards to employees and directors on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes model, which is affected by the Company's stock price as well as assumptions regarding a number of highly complex and subjective variables. These variables include, but are not limited to the Company's expected stock price volatility over the expected term of the awards, and actual and projected employee stock option exercise behaviors.

The Company used the simplified-method to determine an award's expected term and the Company's historical volatility to approximate expected volatility.

The Company has elected to adopt the detailed method for calculating the beginning balance of the additional paid-in capital pool ("APIC pool") related to the tax effects of employee share-based compensation, and to determine the subsequent impact on the APIC pool and consolidated statements of cash flows of the tax effects of employee share-based compensation awards that are outstanding. (See Note 6 below.)

Comprehensive income

Comprehensive income consists of net income and other gains and losses that are not included in net income, but are recorded directly in the consolidated statements of shareholders' equity, such as the unrealized gains and losses on the translation of the assets and liabilities of the Company's foreign operations and gains or losses.

Supplemental disclosure of cash flow information

The Company paid $2,170 interest expense for the quarter end June 30, 2011 and interest expense in the year ended December 31, 2010 of $5,891. The Company paid income taxes in the amount of $800 and $22,375 in 2010 and 2009 respectively.

Concentrations

During the period ended June 30, 2011 there were two customer accounts which represented more than 10% of the Company's net sales.

Income taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes by recognizing deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences that have been included in the consolidated financial statements or tax returns. Deferred taxes are recognized for all temporary differences between the tax and financial reporting bases of the Company's assets and liabilities based on enacted laws and statutory rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. A valuation allowance is provided for deferred tax assets, if it is more likely than not that the Company will not realize those tax assets through future operations.

The Company evaluates and accounts for uncertain tax positions in accordance with FASB ASC 740, Income Taxes, which requires that management review uncertain tax positions taken and evaluate whether it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained as a result of an audit. Tax positions that are uncertain and do not meet the criteria for more likely than not are adjusted by a valuation account related to the amount for which is uncertain. Management believes that all tax positions taken to date are highly certain and accordingly, no accounting adjustments have been made to the consolidated financial statements.

2. Credit facilities

The bank renewed and extended the Company's $126,000 revolving line of credit for working capital through August 31, 2011. The interest rate on revolving line of credit is the bank prime rate (3.5% at May 12, 2011) plus a 1.0% margin or 4.5% at May 12, 2011, with a floor interest rate of 4.5%. The credit facility is secured by all of the assets of the Company and its subsidiary, A-G Canada Ltd. and requires that the Company maintain certain minimum financial covenant ratios. The outstanding borrowings on the revolving credit line at June 30, 2011 were $126,000.

3. Income taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been reported in the Company's financial statements or tax returns. The valuation allowance at December 31, 2010 reflects an unrecognized U.S. and foreign tax loss carryforward. At December 31, 2010, the Company had available net operating loss carryforwards of $2,160,000 for federal income tax purposes, $1,037,000 for state income tax purposes and $158,000 for foreign income tax purposes. These net operating loss carryforwards expire from 2020 to 2024 for federal taxes, 2011 to 2013 for state taxes, and 2011 to 2016 for foreign taxes.

2002 Qualified and non-qualified stock option plan

The Company adopted a qualified and non-qualified stock option plan on February 27, 2002. The 2002 Stock Option Plan was amended on October 21, 2004, to increase the number of available options to purchase shares to 800,000. Under the plan, the stock option price per share for options granted is determined by the Board of Directors and is based on the market price of the Company's common stock on the date of grant. The stock options vet over four years and no option can be exercised later than ten years from the date it was granted.

The Company determined compensation cost based on the fair value for its fully vested stock options at grant date. The Company's total compensation expense recorded from inception-to-date (net of tax) is approximately $16,000 and the total compensation expense (net of tax) would be approximately $21,000 based on current stock option grants.

The fair value for these options was estimated at the grant date using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model with the following weighted-average assumptions used for grants at December 31, 2010:

Expected life		5 years
Risk-free interest rate		4.5%
Expected volatility		30%
Dividend yield		0%
Fair value of options granted at fair market price	$	0.16

All options granted were at the fair market price.

Transactions involving stock options for 2009 and 2010 are summarized as follows:

	Number of Shares		Weighted Avg Exercise Price

The Company pays the administrative expenses for the plan. Annually, the Company may, at its sole discretion, award an amount as a match against employee contributions to the 401(k) plan.
